PROFILE

Adventurer by heart, leader and problem solver by nature. I've worn many hats in my life which have given me the life lessons and experiences to mold me into a very adaptable and hard-working individual. Spending most of my working life in the hospitality industry, I know what is to be punctual, energizing, polite, calm, a multitasker and flexible. My work in the outdoor industry has given me the title of teacher, leader, steward, athlete, competitor, and risk manager. The volunteering work I do has taught me how to be an influencer with integrity, an enthusiastic motivator, and an organized and dependable communicator. All of these traits have made my transition into a web developer much smoother. The daily collaboration is a crucial part of the experience. I know I am a beneficial employee to any company I work for and will give you my full commitment.
